free buy viagra onlineQ: apache POI on Android - why does SizeLimitedDataSource not work As the title says, I try to get my program to load data for a spreadsheet from a database. I use the class SizeLimitedDataSource as recommended by the API. It should only work for small sets of data. The only problem is that it does not work for me. I am aware that the load of the data from the database takes some time, but I never get the message in the log that the size limits are exceeded. Instead, I get the message that the row count is 0. If I run the code until I manually insert a row in the database, everything works fine. So I don't know what is wrong here. The given link above tells me that the results aren't saved and that size limited doesn't work correctly. I've already tried to put the SizeLimitedDataSource in a class and pass it to the sizeLimited method of HSSFCellStyle, but that doesn't work for me either. Does anyone know a solution to this problem? private ArrayList getData() throws Exception { ArrayList data = new ArrayList(); Connection conn = DriverManager.getConnection("jdbc:mysql://localhost:3306/sqlite_test", "root", "root"); Statement statement = conn.createStatement(); ResultSet rs = statement.executeQuery("SELECT * FROM textdata"); rs.next(); while (rs.next()) { data.add(rs.getString("text")); } Statement st = conn.createStatement(); st.executeUpdate("INSERT INTO testdata (text) VALUES ('test')"); conn.commit(); conn.close(); return data; } private void addData(ArrayList data) { System.out.println("count: " + this.size); HSSFWorkbook workbook = new HSSFWorkbook(); SizeLimitedDataSource dataSource = new SizeLimitedDataSource(data); HSSFSheet sheet =
